

From: Owen Cooper
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/27/02 10:54am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Microsoft is the leader in supporting a defined interface as a way to allow different groups to work on different components without interfering with each other. Applying this to IE, it would be great if they unbundled IE and published their interface.

Microsoft is great but too monolithic. Having them publish their interfaces and/or source code would not break them up, but would increase competition. Seems a suitable response to the judgement against them.

Owen Cooper